

The Consensus on Ten Aspects of Food as Pathways

Food has been leading the way how humans have survived; food has been leading the way how trade, politics, and economy have developed globally; food has been leading the way how peace, health, prosperity, and culture have grown globally; food has been leading the way where mankind will be heading in the future and how the ideal of continuity and sustainability will become a reality.